Art Unit: 1616

DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-65 are presently pending in the instant application.

Claims 53-65 are withdrawn from the further consideration.

Election/Restrictions

Claims 53-65 have been withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 1. CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in an oral communication to the Examiner.

Priority

Acknowledgment is made of applicant's claim for foreign priority under 35 2. U.S.C. 119(a)-(d).

Drawings

The drawings filed on May 16, 2000 are acceptable subject to correction of the informalities indicated on the attached "Notice of Draftperson's Patent Drawing Review," PTO-948. In order to avoid abandonment of this application, correction is required.

4. This application does not contain an abstract of the disclosure as required by 37 CFR 1.72(b). An abstract on a separate sheet is required.

5. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: It is noted that the application contains a blank page at page 152.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

6. Claims 45-46, and 48-52 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Desai et al.

Desai et al. (U.S. Pat. No. 5,916,596) teaches methods for the in vivo delivery of Insoluble pharmacologically active agents in the form of suspended particles coated with protein. The method of manufacture yields particles with diameters less than 1 micron (abstract). The invention provides a drug delivery system in either liquid form or in the form of a redispersible powder (col. 1, line 36-38). In a particular embodiment, a composition of the anti-cancer drug Taxol, can be embodied in the form of nanoparticles in a liquid dispersion or as a solid which can be easily reconstituted for administration (col. 6, lines 56-59). Delivery of the active agent can occur by various methods such as oral, intravenous, subcutaneous, intramuscular, inhalation, topical, and transdermal (col. 8, lines 17-22).

Thus, the above claims are anticipated.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

- (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 7. Claims 1--44, and 47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Desai et al. further in view of Langer, C.J.

As stated above, Desai et al. teaches (U.S. Pat. No. 5,916,596) teaches methods for the in vivo delivery of insoluble pharmacologically active agents in the form of suspended particles coated with protein, such active agents including Taxol. Further, it is taught that the lethal dose of the formulations is substantially higher than current commercial formulations (such as Bovine Serum Albumin). Still yet, it is taught that this is clinically important because higher doses of chemotherapeutic drugs administered may have more effective oncolytic activity with greater reduced toxicity (col. 26, lines 15-20). However, Desai et al. does not teach dosage amounts of the formulations.

Langer, C.J. et al. ("Paclitaxel (1-hour) and carboplatin" (Abstract)) teaches infusion of paclitaxel at 135 mg/m² and 200mg/m² by 1-hour infusion. This protocol was followed every 3 weeks. Langer, C.J. et al. concludes that higher doses of formulation yield intolerable toxicity, and the protocol was limited at paclitaxel doses exceeding 215mg/m<sup>2</sup>. It is further taught that lower doses appear to associated with lower response rates.

Based on the art available at the time of the invention, one with ordinary skill in the art would have known to make particles comprised of an active agent such as Taxol for in vivo delivery. One with ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to do this in order to obtain a formulation for in vivo delivery of Taxol at a higher concentration (for increased or more effective response) while at the same time limiting or reducing the toxicity of the active agent. Based on this motivation, the administration of Taxol at the concentration and administration period as taught in the instant invention would have been known to one of ordinary skill in the art.

Thus, the invention is made obvious.
